COMMITTEE IS NAMED TO PROBE
COST OF LIVING

President Appoints Board to Investigate and Report Findings to Him.

COUNTRY DEMANDS RELIEF

Domestic Problem That Overshadows International Matters at Last Reaches the White House and President Wilson Investigates.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A committee to conduct an investigation of the high cost of living and report to President Wilson was appointed at the conference yesterday of cabinet officers at the office of Attorney General Palmer. This was announced today at the White House.

The committee will compile suggestions thus far made and report to the cabinet Monday when further steps will be taken.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The demand for relief, coming from every section of the United States, at last has penetrated the White House. In the Senate and House, the situation gave rise to several resolutions to investigate the cause of existing price levels, another to reduce the volume of currency in circulation as a means of deflating prices, one to request the Attorney General to stop speculation in food on exchange, and another to sell this year's wheat crop at market prices instead of at the government guarantee, the difference to be made up by the government.

Everyone in authority has come to the conclusion that discussion of the league of nations, the Mexican situation, the Japanese question, the tariff or any other question is overshadowed by a domestic problem that cannot be dismissed by promises, but one that must be solved to the satisfaction of the whole people. Advisers of the President are recommending the executive to take hold of the problem in the most determined fashion.

Attorney General Palmer late yesterday met eight high government officials whom he had summoned to his office for a discussion of high costs and the best methods to pursue to effect a reduction. After a general talk lasting nearly three hours, the conference disbanded to meet again, probably next week, for further counsel based on additional information to be collected in the meantime. Those attending the conference included Secretaries Glass, Houston, Reiffel, respectively of the Treasury, Agriculture and Commerce departments; Director General of Railroads Hines, Chairman Murdoch of the Federal Trade Commission, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Leffingwell and W. B. Colver of the Federal Trade Commission.

RETAIL MEAT MEN MAKE 100 PER CENT PROFIT, CHARGE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Figures showing that retail meat dealers in Washington are averaging 100 per cent profit on all sales of meat were cited yesterday before a Senate District of Columbia subcommittee investigating living costs in the district. E. A. Calvin, representing the national states official advisory marketing board, told the committee that while, on July 1, retail dealers in Washington, according to figures of the Department of Agriculture, were paying from 18 to 19 cents a pound for dressed beef, they were disposing of the entire carcass at an average price of not less than 40 cents a pound. The witness said the same profits were being made today.

The butcher or retail dealer, said Mr. Calvin, when selling at 100 per cent profit, adds more to the cost of that meat to the consumer than the combined profits taken by the farmer, the livestock dealer and the packer with transportation and storage charges included.

The witness also cited quotations at Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other large cities, showing that although the price of dressed beef to the retailer declined on an average of 25 per cent at these points from July 1 to July 15, there was an average decrease of only eight per cent in the price to the consumer.

"These figures clearly show," interjected Senator Capper of Kansas, a member of the committee, "that the retailer, or the man who is selling over the counter, is profiteering."

WEST VIRGINIA ALSO WANTS HIGH PRICE PROBE
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 1.—A conference between Governor John J. Cornwell and Commissioner J. H. Stewart of the State Department of Agriculture took place today on the initiative of the governor, suggesting investigation of food prices in West Virginia similar to inquiries now going on in the neighboring states of Ohio and Maryland. The governor has no funds at his disposal for such a purpose but suggests that the Department of Agriculture has and in addition has a staff of inspectors available for such work. The Commissioner of Agriculture expressed his willingness to co-operate and will take the matter up in his department but is not disposed to go into any "muck-raking campaign," as he put it.

SUPPLIES TAKEN TO RIOT AREA OF CHICAGO FOR THE
FIRST TIME IN FIVE DAYS*NAMES OF VIOLATORS OF ACTS OF WAR MUST BE GIVEN BY GERMANS

List to Be Transmitted to Allies Within Month After Peace Treaty is Effective.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The protocol to the German peace treaty dealing with the acts of war must be transmitted to the Allies within one month after the peace treaty is effective, according to a memorandum exchanged between the German and Allied plenipotentiaries was laid before the Senate today by Vice President Marshall. The documents were transmitted yesterday by President Wilson.

The protocol was accompanied by explanatory letters from President Wilson and Secretary Lansing. The protocol and correspondence were referred to the Foreign Relations committee.

Among the provisions in the protocol is one requiring the German government to transmit to the Allied and associated governments within one month after the treaty becomes effective a list of persons who are accused of having committed acts in violation of the laws and customs of war. Another paragraph provides for the appointment of a commission to supervise the destruction of the German fortifications on Heligoland in accordance with the German treaty. Provision is also made that "proceedings be taken against persons who commit punishable offenses in the liquidation of German property."

Great Britain and Germany already have ratified the treaty and as soon as it shall have been approved by two other of the associated nations it will take effect as far as those four countries are concerned, permitting the immediate resumption of full diplomatic and trade relations.

The protocol reached the Senate yesterday too late to be laid before the body. It may be taken up today in executive session and later made public.

Prominent Men of Connellsville and Vicinity Named; Will Meet Tonight.
In furtherance of the movement to establish a general hospital in Connellsville a committee of 11 men of Connellsville and vicinity has been named to devise ways and means of erecting the proposed institution. In the launching of the movement the suggestion was offered that the hospital be erected as a memorial to the men and women who served in the World War. It is believed the new committee will take this into consideration in its deliberations.

The enlarged committee will meet tonight at the Red Cross headquarters.

FOUR CANDIDATES
In Field for Nomination for Judge in Somerset County.
Four candidates for the nomination for judge have entered the race in Somerset county. Attorneys John M. Berkey and Norman T. Boose were first in the field and it was thought the contest would be limited by that number of candidates.

The announcement of Attorneys Ernest O. Kooser and Charles F. Uhl has changed the situation in that it is now certain no one candidate will receive 51 per cent of the votes cast at the primary and thereby become the only nominee entitled to a place on the ticket for the general election.

To Distribute Estate.
Creditors of William M. Thompson, bankrupt brother of J. V. Thompson, will meet in Uniontown August 19 to decide upon distribution of the remainder of the real estate. City Provides 2,000 Bottles of Milk So Babies May Not Suffer.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—With state troops in full control in the "black belt" of Chicago, the rioting that terrorized that section for four nights was pronounced by state and city officials "at an end" today.

The total dead since the fighting at the 29th street bathing beach on Sunday, the inception of the race riots, which resulted in the drowning of a negro lad is 32—18 negroes and 14 whites. The total of the injured has not been officially tabulated but is known to be more than 300 and may exceed 500, as many slightly hurt went to their homes without reporting to the police.

Supplies were taken into the riot area today. No fresh meats or vegetables have been on sale there for five days. In order that the babies might not suffer, City Controller Harding sent 2,000 bottles of milk into the district. With the incoming supplies and the presence of soldiers, the negroes began separation to resume their jobs at the stockyards and other places.

All But Two Aldermen Here Will Run Again.
With the exception of Laurence Donegan and Eugene O'Donovan of the city aldermen will be candidates for re-election, it is understood. S. H. Howard has filed his petition in Uniontown. He is a candidate in the Third ward. W. D. Colburn announced today his candidacy for re-election in the Fourth ward.

Harry Hopkins is a candidate in the First ward, in which the magistrate now is Mr. Donegan. Fred Munk will seek re-election in the Second. The Fifth ward has been without an alderman since the retirement of B. F. Rodolph. Levi P. Hoover will be a candidate here, it is said.

In the Seventh ward Eugene O'Donovan has announced he will not run and Alex W. Hart has entered the race, seeking the Republican nomination. There has been no active official in the Sixth ward. H. M. Saur will be a candidate in the Sixth.

Corporal Nebraska was overseas for 14 months and after the armistice was in Germany with the Fourth Division.

WAGE INCREASE

To Railroad Shoppers Forecast in a Request Not to Strike.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Representatives of the six railroad shops who are in conference with Railroad Administration officials, have telegraphed to shop employees over the country not to strike pending final settlement of their demands. The workmen were informed that the Railroad Administration had consented to enter into a national agreement with the unions covering its rules and working conditions.

The assurance given by the Director General Hines is construed by the shop representatives to mean that a substantial increase in wages will be granted.

RESTAURANT SERVES NO DESSERT BECAUSE OF SUGAR SHORTAGE

"We're not serving dessert today. We couldn't get enough sugar to make it."

The above explanation was given today at a local restaurant as to the absence of one dish from the usual menu.

Stores are again limiting the quantity per customer to two pounds, where it is procurable at all. Meanwhile the government delays releasing the War Department's store which would serve to relieve the situation.

BEST CURB MARKET
YET; FINE QUALITY
PRODUCE OFFERED

Corn, Beans, Cabbage and Other Articles in Profusion at Methodist Church Lot.

What was declared to be the best market of the 1919 season was that of this morning, the third to be held on the Methodist church lot. Eighteen farmers and truck growers and hucksters exposed for sale a fine line of goods—corn, cabbage, onions, tomatoes, cucumbers, beets, beans, fruits and chickens. The quantity was the largest. The quality was such that no objections could be offered and there were few protests on the prices.

Corn sold at 30 cents a dozen ears, though some extra fine brought two cents more, a reduction from the last market. Tomatoes were offered at 15 to 20 cents a pound. Cabbage was uniform at five cents a pound. It was of the best quality. Cucumbers were at various prices, depending on size and quality. A fair quality was procurable at 25 cents a dozen. The larger ones cost more.

One farmer brought along a quantity of peaches, fine red-checked ones of large size, which he had no trouble at all getting rid of at 25 cents a quart peck. He could have sold bushels at the price.

Beans were in evidence in liberal quantities, perhaps more than any other article. They sold at 10 cents a quart peck. If one desired a bushel he could get a better rate.

There was a variance of the price of chickens. They ranged from 40 to 50 cents a pound, live.

There was a large crowd on hand at the opening hour and two hours later there were a goodly number making the rounds of the wagons. Some of the dealers sold out during the first hour.

VILLA FORCES DEMORALIZED
SINCE RAID BY AMERICANS

Rebels Reported Without Food and Their Morale Very Low; May Be Villa Trick.

By Associated Press.
EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 1.—Francisco Villa's army which advanced on Juarez with the intention of conquering Northern Mexico and establishing a rebel government in the north, retired before United States troops badly demoralized and disorganized, say deserters, impressed soldiers who escaped, and civilians who saw them at Villa Ahumada.

After two days and nights of intermittent fighting for possession of Juarez, Villa had depleted his ammunition supply. A member of his staff who came to the border after the retirement said many of Villa's men had no ammunition. Only Villa's bodyguard had more than 100 rounds. Soldiers had thrown their rifles away while crossing the desert with the American cavalry in pursuit.

LAYTON MAN, SHOT BY ALLEGED
"BOOTLEGGER," BRINGS A SUIT
TO RECOVER $10,000 DAMAGES

Kacham Claims Levoni's Bullet Has Caused Him Permanent Disability.

A sequel to the arrest last week of Salvatore Levoni of Layton on a charge of "bootlegging" at that place was the filing in Uniontown today of an action in trespass in which damages to the amount of $10,000 is sought of Levoni by Theodore Kacham who caused the arrest of Levoni after the latter had fired four shots at Kacham, three of which took effect. The suit is to recover for the injury, pain, inconvenience and expense to which the plaintiff was subjected.

The shooting was staged at Layton Sunday, July 6, at the home of Levoni. There arose an argument over money Kacham owed Levoni for liquor. Levoni, it was alleged at a hearing before Alderman W. D. Colburn of this city, threatened to shoot Kacham if he did not pay up and as Kacham made an effort to leave the house Levoni made good the threat. One bullet struck in the left leg, another in the left knee cap and the third in the back of the head. As the result of the fullblown defendant declares he has suffered great bodily pain and has been subjected to much expense for treatment, besides being permanently injured.

Levoni is under $1,500 bail for court on charges of selling liquor without license and on Sunday, also aggravated assault and battery and shooting with intent to kill.

BIG SCARCITY OF MATERIALS HOLDS UP BUILDING WORK

Local Contractors Declare It Is Next to Impossible to Secure Supplies.

A pronounced scarcity of materials is reported by city contractors in various lines. Unable to secure delivery on their orders, they cannot go ahead with jobs, they are faced with big losses unless conditions improve. One plumbing contractor declared yesterday he had $20,000 worth of work but was unable to secure supplies. The jobbers do not have the stuff because the factories are away behind on their orders.

Owing to the inability of the contractors, the Connellsville Construction company, to secure the exact materials specified by the architect, work has not been begun on the Fayette school building for Dunbar township. This school, which will be located on the vacant Miller lot at the "Green house" near Dunbar, is to be a two-room brick, complying in all respects with the requirements of the Department of Education at Harrisburg, and has been so planned that should it be necessary, additional rooms can be added without destroying the symmetry of the structure.

The specifications required yellow pine joists, and it has been impossible for the contractors to procure these. Permission has been sought to use hemlock joists instead and if the yellow pine cannot be procured within the next week the right to substitute will be granted in order that the building may be ready for use at the earliest possible time. It is not expected to have it ready for school use before January 1, 1920. It is proposed, however, to open the school in the old building at the beginning of the fall term and provide for the primary pupils to attend during the forenoon and the other grades in the afternoon until the new school building is ready for use. That this will be a handicap to the school is admitted, but it seems to be the only solution to the problem.

GIRL ASSAULTED

Miss Goldie Grover of Walnut Hill Attacked; Man Arrested.

Miss Goldie Grover, 17 years old, daughter of a farmer of Walnut Hill, three miles from Uniontown, was assaulted on the road near her home last night. She was found lying unconscious by the roadside by neighbors covered with blood and with her clothing nearly torn from her body. Police have a man who gave his name as Paul Spator, address unknown, in custody, who, they believe, is the girl's assailant.

Miss Grover had been visiting a neighboring farm during the afternoon and started to return home at dusk. Within sight of her home she was seen by a man who leaped at her from the shrubbery. Armed at her absence her parents and neighbors set out in search of her. Upon discovery a posse with bloodhounds, after tracing the girl's assailant from the scene of the crime to a store in Uniontown, retraced their steps to the scene and arrived in time to see state police rushing a man to the county jail whom they had found near by, hiding in a clump of bushes. Physicians say the girl will not be able to appear against her alleged assailant for at least a week.

FIGHTING TENTH REUNION WILL BE LONG REMEMBERED

Meeting at Mount Pleasant Declared to Have Been Most Successful One Yet.

A. E. F. MEN ARE GUESTS

Survivors of War With Germany Mingle With Comrades Who Fought Against Philippines at Battle of Manila; Endorse Soldier Candidates.

Mount Pleasant was host yesterday to the veterans of the Fighting Tenth—some 200 of them—and the occasion was one that all will long cherish. Many declared the reunion was the most successful ever held. The town, through its officials and committee named for the purpose, did all in its power to make the sojourn of the men who fought in the Philippine insurrections enjoy the annual gathering together and succeeded. The 21st anniversary of the regiment's baptism of fire at the battle of Manila will surely go down in history as second to none of the score preceding it.

A. counted there were 207 of the veterans at the banquet and camp fire, Connellsville, the home of old Company D, was well represented. Practically every unit was. Mingling with their comrades of the war of two decades ago were some whose names were enrolled with the American Expeditionary Force in the war against German aggression. Among these was Lieutenant Colonel Edward A. Martin of Waynesburg, for a time commander of the Tenth's successor, the 110th Infantry.

The visiting veterans assembled at the Grand Opera House where a committee greeted them and they were registered. Here reminiscences were exchanged. This occupied the morning hours. At noon a banquet was served in Red Men's hall by the members of the Protected Home Circle with Mrs. C. E. King as chairman of the women's committee, and F. P. Eicher of the men's committee.

Following the dinner the veterans returned to the opera house where the annual camp fire was held. Burgess S. P. Stevens welcomed the boys, according to every hospitality, the town, which suffered heavily in the Philippine campaign, could bestow. W. T. Dom, Jr., of Greensburg, responded. He was followed by Lieutenant Colonel James E. Barnett, Washington, Pa.; Major George W. Neff, Massontown, and Lieutenant Colonel Martin. E. J. Newell presided.

Colonel Thomas S. Crago of Waynesburg, a member of the old command, was unable to be present. His letter of regret was read. Judge Charles D. Copeland of Greensburg was present but did not speak. For the reason that Judge Copeland, a Company I man, Captain J. Edward Boyle and W. T. Dom are candidates at the coming election the reunion association passed a resolution endorsing the candidacy of all, regardless of politics.

Washington was selected as the place for the next annual convention. For this reason the officers elected were men of that section of the state, as a rule. Harry Houston of Washington was chosen president; William Shier, Monaca, vice president; Guy Williams, Washington, secretary, and Robert A. Cook, Washington, treasurer.

After the speaking motion pictures were shown. This was followed by a ball game at Frick park, in which Morewood won from Latrobe. In a game between the same teams in the morning Morewood lost. The scores were 7-3 in the morning and 4-1 in the afternoon.

Daylight fireworks and band concerts were the features. All day a pop wagon moved among the crowds, dispensing free drinks to the veterans of the Spanish and Civil wars.

The members of the Grand Army of the Republic and other veterans of the Civil War shared in the honors of the day. Places were reserved for them at the banquet.

The day was of a holiday nature for the town. All enjoyed it.

QUESTION SNAKE-TALE.

A number of fellow employees of Harry Austin at the Overholt distillery asked a Courier reporter to inquire if the killing of a big rattlesnake recently by Mr. Austin, and Paul McDonald and the receipt by Mr. Austin of a quart of "sulphur water whisky" had any connection. Prior to prohibition's advent, Mr. Austin was presented with a quart of Overholt best and while he was not looking, some of his fellow workers substituted a bottle of sulphur water for it. Now they wonder if that beverage had anything to do with the size of the reptile Mr. Austin helped slay.

NEW NATIONAL GUARD IS TO BE RECRUITED IN THE EARLY FALL

Will be Known as the 28th Division and Will Retain Insignia of Reserve Militiamen May Enlist.

By Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—Recruiting for the new Pennsylvania National Guard will be speeded up in the early fall, said Major General William D. Price, commander of the guard, here today after his conference with Adjutant General Frank D. Beary, Colonel General Davis, chief of staff, Brigadier General Richard Coulter and other brigade commanders. The new guard will be known as the 28th Division and will have the red keystone as an insignia.

"We will not incorporate the reserve militia into the National Guard," General Price said, "but members will be accepted if they join as individuals. We are anxious for reserve officers to join, and expect that the National Guardsmen who were sworn into the federal service and went abroad with the 28th Division will re-enlist in the units, which will be re-instituted as they were before the war."

WEST PENN CHARTERS

By Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—Protest was filed before the Public Service Commission yesterday by representatives of various electric companies in Western Pennsylvania against approval of charter applications for a score of electric companies backed by the West Penn interests and planned for districts in Armstrong, Butler, Clarion and other counties. The hearings were adjourned to Pittsburgh at a date to be fixed shortly.

The opposition is understood to center among parties in Pittsburgh and elsewhere who are interested in the development of a large hydro-electric project on the Clarion river.

WHITE HOUSE IS AGAIN CENTER

OLD ACTIVITIES RESUMED WITH RETURN OF PRESIDENT FROM FRANCE.

WILL RESUME SOCIAL LIFE

For Five Years Executive Mansion Has Been Closed to All Forms of Entertainment, but With Ending of War It Again Comes to Life.

By EDWARD S. CLARK.

Washington.—Once more the doors of the White House swing outward and inward. There are lights in the windows by night, motors approach and depart by day, and what was lifeless is life.

The old days of the White House probably have returned to stay. Even while the president is on his travels members of the family and of the household will remain to keep open the old mansion and to show that the spirit of hospitality once more has lodged under the roof.

Never before in the history of the country has the White House been removed for so long a time from the social activities and, latterly, from the business activities of the city and the nation. Washington believes that from now on through the years the fine old house within the finer old grounds will take its place as the center of the capital's social life as it is certain to be the center of the nation's directing energies.

During the four years of war, or more properly speaking, five years, because the armistice did not necessarily mean peace, the White House remained virtually closed against all forms of entertainment. For three years, or almost three years, the United States was not involved directly in the war, but the horror of the battlefields in Europe made itself felt, not only in the White House but in all the houses of larger entertaining in the city of Washington. The president and Mrs. Wilson apparently did not feel that it was the time for entertaining.

Entertainments dropped. Something besides sentiment is responsible for the virtual barring of the doors of the White House. All entertainments that are given within the executive mansion precincts are in the natural order of events shared in by the representatives of foreign nations. When France, England, Belgium and Russia, and later Italy, were fighting Germany, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria it became virtually impossible to give an entertainment at the White House without including in the list of guests representatives of the warring nations. This would have made for embarrassment, and so it was that with very few exceptions all entertainments were taboo.

After the United States entered the war there were no entertainments given at the White House. During the Civil War White House entertainments were not given over the country. The circumstances of the case were somewhat different from those of the past five years. The country was in the throes of a war which might be called one of brother against brother, but there was a feeling among the high officials of government at that time that it was good for the United States to keep up a semblance of things normal. It was the personal viewpoint. Lincoln had one and Wilson seems to have another.

In England at the outbreak of the present war the people showed a determination to keep to their ordinary pursuits in life as much as was possible. It was the feeling of the men and women of England, no matter how much their hearts might be cast down, that it was better to busy themselves up and the nation up by keeping things as nearly normal as possible.

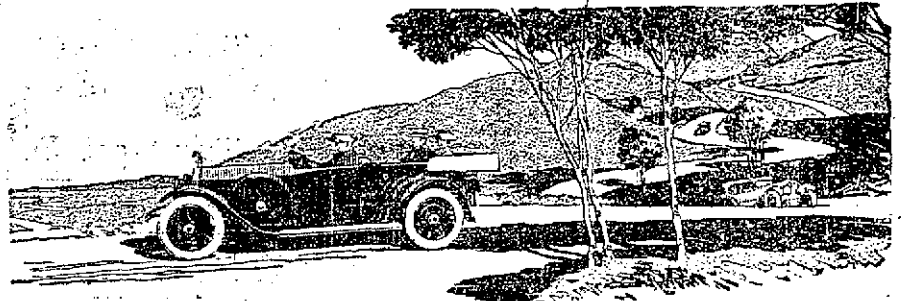

In France it was different. The French people looked at the matter from a different standpoint than that from which the English were viewing it. They shut all their theaters except those producing serious plays and those showing moving pictures of a kind to inspire patriotism. The French went into mourning garb, while the English did not. Again it would seem as if the entire question was one of a personal, or, if you will, national viewpoint.

During the president's absence in Europe the White House offices were kept open, but only for the transaction of necessary business. The usual gatherings of senators and representatives on business bent were no more in evidence.

New all is changed, and changed for the better, for the atmosphere about the great house on Pennsylvania avenue for the last five years has been depressing. It was the center of all things and suddenly it seemed to be except for the presence of one man, the center of nothing. The daily pilgrimages of senators, representatives and cabinet officers have started again. It is believed that before long the great East room will witness once more the lighting of its great chandeliers, and that the Marine band once more will play in the great corridor, while the president and Mrs. Wilson greet once more the official and personal friends bidden to the receptions which for a century have marked at most uninterceptedly the White House social season.

Resigns Position. Mrs. P. E. Swartzwelder has resigned her position in the office of the United States Coast Iron Pipe & Foundry company at Scottsdale, and will go to Jeannette to reside. Mr. Swartzwelder having been located there for some weeks. Mrs. Swartzwelder is succeeded by Miss Margaret Angus of West Scottsdale.

TO CUT RATES
Postal Will Charge Prices Prevailing Before U. S. Control.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, announced yesterday that he would cut telegraph rates, except those on night letters, 20 per cent to the rates which prevailed before Postmaster General Burleson made the 20 per cent increase, adding, however, that further increases in taxes and expenses might make it necessary later to advance rates for a part or whole of the 20 per cent increase.

Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, indicated, when he was asked concerning the policy of his company, that it would stand on the increased rates and not meet the Postal's reduction.

Rural Router Wants Fellow Sufferers to Know About Nerv-orth's "Wonderful" Results.

This entirely new statement is one of the most striking tributes ever paid to a medicine. Observe that Nerv-orth did for him what several doctors found it impossible to do:
Dear Sirs:—I feel it my duty to speak a word in behalf of your wonderful medicine (Nerv-orth). I have suffered with a bad stomach trouble for two or three years. Could eat nothing without suffering with palpitation of the heart, smothering and nerves in a terrible shape. I had tried five or six different doctors, but could get no relief whatever. Seeing testimonials for Nerv-orth in a paper I decided to try a bottle. I felt like a new man after the first bottle. I can truthfully recommend Nerv-orth for a family medicine. I would not be without it in my house.
Very truly yours,

THE OVERSHADOWING QUESTION.

The necessity for action that will affect a reduction in the high cost of living is overshadowing every other question before the American public these days. From every section of the country and every trade and occupation complaints are coming into Congress and government officials in such number and collected in such terms as are awakening the recipients to the gravity of the situation. Conferences of department heads, members of the cabinet and other bodies are being held to consider what is possible to be done to provide some measure of relief. It is imperative to be granted, but this far without results or even hope of them.

The suggestion that investigations be made to ascertain the causes of complaint is little short of silly. For the past two years "investigation" has been so much a pastime of Congressional committees and the Federal Trade Commission that almost every trade, business and industry has been inquired into. Bales of reports, giving costs of production, margins of profit and other information are stored in vaults in Washington as a result of the industry of countless investigators. Further information is unnecessary to establish the fact that the cost of living is inordinately and unjustifiably high. The problem to be solved is to affect a reasonable reduction. The duty of the authorities is to punish those who have unlawfully contributed or conspired to maintain a high price level.

Present conditions are less an outgrowth of the war than they are the logical result of the paternalistic and socialistic tendencies of the government. Instead of enforcing existing laws or enacting new ones that will put an effective stop to the monopoli-stic control of foodstuffs by every agency now operating with that end in view, the government has been lending aid and comfort to those very agencies. No law has ever been enacted under which prices can be reduced. The most that has been done is to set a maximum price which at once became the minimum below which it has been impossible to buy. This nullification of the natural laws of trade has had the effect of stimulating greed among producers, wholesalers and retailers until none are willing to take a small profit and all are resolutely determined to stand out against taking a loss in order that there may come about a speedy restoration to normal living conditions. This, jointly with an almost universal extravagance in tastes of buyers, and the criminal withholding of supplies from the market, have been the fundamental causes of the rising tide of prices. These are things to be remedied, not further to interfere with the immutable laws of trade which if permitted to operate without hindrance would soon relieve the American people of the painful pinch of high living costs.

HIGH TAXES FOR MANY YEARS TO COME.

Next to the possibility of a reduction in the high cost of living no subject is of more general interest at this time than is comprehended by the question, "When Will Taxes be Reduced?"

Thus far none have been bold enough to venture an answer to this question, much as it is desired to have at least a substantial basis of hope that relief from the burdens will soon or later be provided. The most that has been said, and perhaps all that can at this time be said, in reference to a reduction in taxes, relates to conditions which must precede a lowering of taxes. Such an analysis is presented by the Commerce Monthly when directing attention to the fact that the expenditures of the government, other than payments on the public debt, amounted to $18,515,000-000 during the fiscal year ending June 30, and that the total receipts were $13,182,000,000, or $5,333,000,000 less than gross expenditures. For the ensuing year the expenditures are estimated at $7,500,000,000 and total revenues at about $7,500,000,000, leaving a deficit of half a billion to be provided by the sale of treasury certificates. The effect upon taxes meantime is thus explained by the authority referred to:

It is a commonplace of finance that in time of peace revenue must equal expenditure. This condition may not be fully met before the tax at 1920-21.
It is therefore apparent that the hope of a reduction of taxes on which was entertained and expressed some months ago by many members of the new Congress cannot speedily be realized, and accordingly tax relief measures heretofore introduced have been shelved, at least temporarily. This does not mean that simplification and improvement of the existing revenue law is not possible but only that the total amount of taxes cannot yet be safely reduced.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, an annual revenue of perhaps $14,000,000,000 will be required instead of the round billion which was the customary annual pre-war revenue.
This conclusion follows from consideration of the increased level of prices and wages, of the inevitable expansion of governmental activity and of the heavy sinking fund and interest charges on our debt. After deducting some nine billions advanced to the Ailed governments, there will remain a net debt of about $15,000,000,000, which will entail an annual charge of at least $700,000,000.

Some reduction of taxes, but no very large reduction, may reasonably be expected in another year. It is to be hoped that the cuts will be made in the most burdensome taxes but American business must look forward to continuance of very heavy taxation for years to come. Even so, our condition is relatively better than that of other nations, for example the British, whose taxes must be increased in order to meet a peace time expenditure nearly equal to our own.

About the most comfort to be derived from the situation is that taxes cannot well be any higher and may begin to move down the scale the next year or later. Even then the reduction will doubtless be slight, leaving us no alternative but to adapt business and living accordingly. We will thus be brought to realize what many have not yet learned that, even had we not been forced into the war, we would have had to pay our share of the cost of the insane struggle. Now we will have that share to meet in addition to our own war cost, which means high taxes for many years to come.

Full resumption of the Shigo mills on Monday will be welcomed as another means of swelling payroll disbursements and increasing the number of busy men in Conneltsville and vicinity.

We are informed that President Wilson is giving "deep and thoughtful consideration" to the high cost of living. Perhaps he has had the matter brought to mind when checking the bill of the grocers and butchers who keep the White House larder filled.

If written in full a history of the only by a history of the World War.

Even with the luxurious growth of corn these warm, humid days and nights the old saw about "more corn more whisky" more whisky more Democrats, is certain to lose its force and virtue. This is not a Democratic year. Moreover, where can a Democrat get whisky during these days of war-time prohibition without drawing upon individual supplies?

People cannot eat telegrams but they will be cheered by the hope that a reduction of 20 per cent in rates will furnish an example for the purveyors of food.

Like Gaul the members of the Senate

"Reservationists," "wild reservationists" and "wild ratificationists," there-

Patriotism Its Own Reward

During the war it was usually expensive to be patriotic, and life was just one privation after another. But now, in the period of settlement and readjustment, there is one patriotic duty that does not mean sacrifice, and the man who performs it by hiring a soldier will find that patriotism is its own reward.

For the ex-service man, according to tests, is better fitted for the world's work, both mentally and physically, than he was when he went to war.
Therefore, that patriotic employer who welcomes soldiers and sailors into his business organization, will not only be doing the men a good turn, but he will be doing his office and thus raise the standards of efficiency.

These tests have been made by the War Department as a key to the task of placing in civilian employment the four million men who are to be returned to the United States. Colonel Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war, is in charge of the government's gigantic employment plan, and makes public the figures which have been obtained relative to the condition of returning soldiers and sailors.

The figures show that 64 per cent of the men manifest actual and tangible improvement both in physical and mental vigor. Their perceptions have been quickened, their nerves have been stiffened, and they are in general better stuff than they were when they went away. Of the remaining numbers, a large percentage have shown no actual retrogression, while a few have been shocked and wearied by the strain. These latter, however, are not discharged until everything possible has been done to restore them to normal, so that the men who are sent out as applicants for work by Colonel Woods and his assistants represent the best type of labor that could be found anywhere in the country, men with sound bodies, keen minds, and a ready spirit.

Debate at Mount Braddock.
There will be a debate Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Methodist Protestant church at Mount Braddock between Rev. Jordan Rough, a local preacher of the United Brethren faith, and Clyde Newmyer of Vanderbilt.
The subject will be "The Law of God."
The question to be determined is whether the Ten Commandments are binding in this day or not. The minister will have the negative side.

Sunday School Picnic.
The annual Sunday school picnic
of the Presbyterian and United Presbyterian churches of Laurel Hill will be held tomorrow on the former church grounds. Dinner and supper will be served and a big crowd is anticipated.

THE UNALTERABLE PAST.

I shall not have a chance to see Today again when night comes down.
This hour again shall never be
With all its failure or renown.
Another hour must take its place,
Another day lies just ahead.
No single step may I retrace
To alter what I've done or said.
If I have badly lived or toiled,
Played false for any petty gain,
The record for today is sealed.
And soiled it always must remain
Despite tomorrow's vain regret.
The selfish hour must selfish stay;
The past shall hold me in its debt.
Nor shall I have a chance to pay.
What's done I never can undo;
What's said I never can recall.
Onward I fare to ventures new,
Perchance to rise, perchance to fall.
The yesterday that once were mine
Shall never feel my hands again.
I have no power to make them fine,
Nor wash away a single stain.

If I wish to make this morning great
With courage I must do it now;
Tomorrow it will be too late.
No second chance does time allow.
This day, this hour, this minute stand
Through all the years that are to be
The record of my brain and hand.
God, let me live them worthily.

erally that while we are getting in numerous lines of fall goods during the month of August, consisting of all sorts of women's, misses' and during August. So do we on certain lines; on other lines we keep getting in supplies—women's,

misses' and children's dresses and dress goods,
hosiery, underwear, ribbons and many other articles. It is picnic month you know, excursion month, outing month, and these lines we are keeping up because there is a demand that justifies us doing so. And we further announce that the prices for this class of goods are cheaper this month than at any time during the summer.
We can provide for your wants, and at the same time we can show you advanced styles in fall

SMALLPOX IN MILD FORM IS PREVALENT IN SOMERSET COUNTY

Eleven Cases Reported; Vaccination Urged as Means of Securing Immunity.

Smallpox in a mild form has broken out in various sections of Somerset county and Medical Director Charles F. Large of Meyersdale strongly urges that all persons who have never been successfully vaccinated should be vaccinated at once. Investigations conducted by Dr. Large have disclosed that in all of the present cases reported to him the patients had not been successfully vaccinated, while all successfully vaccinated members of the same families have so far been immune from the contagion.

Dr. Large has traced the spread of the contagion since May 15, when the case of Morris Brant of near Berlin was investigated by him, down through three classes, and he is disposed to believe that the loathsome disease will spread further before it is completely exterminated. The greatest danger of contracting smallpox is by local contact during the eruptive stage of the disease. Where persons come into local contact with smallpox they are being quarantined for a period of 18 days.

Morris Brant returned home from a visit to Pittsburgh early in May and a few days afterwards developed an eruption which was mistakenly diagnosed as chickenpox. He is said to have attended a picnic before the eruption disappeared entirely.

Secondary cases believed to have developed following contact with Morris Brant are Fred Mosholder of Stonycreek township and a young man named Fritz, who is employed as a clerk in the store of Hillegass & Stutzman at Berlin.

Other cases suffering from the contagion are Robert T. Hillegass, of the firm of Hillegass & Stutzman, two additional children of Mrs. Annie Fritz, and Clinton Christner of Berlin, four members of the Albert M. Cober family of near Pine Hill, and a child of Frank Lichty of Pine Hill.

Of the eleven cases reported the most serious are Mr. Hillegass and two members of the Cober family. Other cases of suspected infection have been reported to Dr. Large from near Stonycreek and from near Spessville.

ONE OUT OF TEN SO AFFECTED HERE

Half sick, run-down, nervous men and women are as numerous as leaves on the trees in the summer time. Such people, and you may be one of the nine out of the ten that are said to be so affected, feel so depressed and despondent, suffer from headaches, loss of sleep, dizziness, poor digestion and have not enough rich blood in their veins to make them capable of self-reliance.

Are you one of this multitude who are long and listless and so nervous that the slightest noise completely upsets you? If you are, you must certainly need something to correct this condition and to build you up and make you anew. Tanlac, "Master Medicine" of millions in America, is doing this very thing every day. Tanlac strikes straight at the seat of your troubles and brings you out of the very depths of despair into sunshine and happiness. Tanlac is sold here by Beighley's Pharmacy, Connelville Drug Store and Fred Rasmussen's Pharmacy.—Adv.

White organdy, pink and green rose sprays embroidered, lace and tucks are in the making of the last bonnet.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE B. BATTINGHAM, 609 Colverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

TELLS STORY OF WORK OF ARMY

TEN THOUSAND TON SHIP TO TRANSPORT RECORDS
FROM FRANCE.

GIVES FACTS WITHOUT COLOR

History of the War to Be Compiled by War Department Will Contain Nothing but What Was Done, and How It Was Done.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—A 10,000 ton ship has been assigned to the duty of transporting from France the records of the American expeditionary forces. No other cargo will be carried.
This little paragraph of the news will enable the people instantly to understand the huge bulk and volume of the story of the war as shown in the official papers and in the life histories of each one of the 2,000,000 men who went over to fight the Hun.
Almost immediately after the first American expeditionary force was sent to France there sailed a company of officers and men whose duty it was to gather the basic material for a history of the American army's operations wherever they were carried out.
Nobody knows how many histories of the war will be written. Some of them are under way now, but the one history which will be accurate beyond peradventure is the history which will be compiled from the actual field service of supply, and operation orders of the American expeditionary forces. Specifically speaking, therefore, the history, which will be of greatest advantage to the man who wants facts without undue color will be the one which is compiled from the orders issued from time to time, and from the reports made by the men who carried out the orders.

Facts Without Prejudice.
Other histories may be more humanly interesting and unquestionably they have the widest kind of sale. Some of them will approach accuracy, but none of them probably will reach it along every line to the goal. Faithful and unprejudiced frequently after facts which are written while the men who made the history are living. Such a thing is at most lovable and the war department knows it. The history of the war which the department will compile will contain nothing except what was done and how it was done.
A vast deal of inaccurate history already has been written. The wonder is perhaps that it contains as few errors as it does.

If one wants to get an idea of how accurate a government history compiled from the records can be, it is a simple matter to put the thing to the required test. If one wants to know the war record of Henry L. Thompson, private of Company K, Third Field Artillery, all he has to do is to write to the adjutant general of the army. Thompson may be unknown to anybody in the United States except to his immediate neighbors. The army records will tell where Thompson was born who his parents were, what his education is, where he enlisted or was drafted, where he served in the United States prior to going abroad where he served in France, what battle he was in, whether or not he was sick or wounded, what non-commissioned rank, if any, he attained, the day that he was ordered back to the United States and the day and place of his discharge.

Housed in Big Building.
In Bourges and Chaumont buildings were given over for the purpose of housing the records of the officers and enlisted men in the American expeditionary forces. The buildings in which the records of the enlisted men were kept is an enormous affair. The records housed in Bourges alone will fill a good part of the ship which is to bring back to America some of the history-making material of the present war. Operation records are kept as carefully as those of the personnel.

How necessary the actual official records are in the work of writing accurate history is proved every day by some of the accounts which appear of this action or that action and of the brigades or divisions which took part in them. In writing men trust too much to memory, and moreover the transport of units was so rapid from point to point that writers of history do not realize that a unit which they supposed was fighting at one place on Friday because it happened to be there on Thursday was moved to another place over night. Here is an example of this:

In one of the series of short articles intended to boom the Victory loan under the general caption of "What We Pay For," the Second division of Regulars of the American army is given the specific credit for driving the Germans back across the Marne. The Second division did magnificent fighting, but it was not at the place where the Germans crossed at the time given. The work was done by the Third division of regulars under Gen. Joseph T. Dickman. The fighting of the Second division was magnificent, but it was at another place. The fact that turned the trick which a sensational historical announcement has credited to another unit.

This is only an example of what happens in compiling war histories. The government is going to stick to the official records.

LIKE MATTY, LANNIN IS CHECKER EXPERT

Magnate One of Most Capable Players in Country.

Long Before Owner of Boston Red Sox
Ever Thought of Becoming Owner of Champion Baseball Team
He Was Checker Fan.

Baseball fans have heard so much about the experiences of Christy Mathewson in checkers they have been led to believe that Big Six is without a rival in the ranks of organized baseball. Such is not the case, however, for Joseph J. Lannin, erstwhile owner of the Boston Red Sox and leading spirit in the International league, when he is in practice can give Christy the game of his life at the checkerboard.

Long before Lannin became identified with baseball he was a checker fan. Not only did he indulge in the game for his own amusement and pastime, but he backed with his bankroll some of the leading checker players in the United States.

Long before Mr. Lannin ever thought of becoming the owner of a world's champion baseball team his thoughts were on checkers. He was only eighteen years old when his interest turned to the game in Massachusetts. He soon perfected his play to such a degree that he vanquished all the so-called country store champions in the locality. Then he set about to conquer the champions of the town in the immediate vicinity. As a member of the Boston Checker club he took part in a great number of club matches and often traveled long distances to see matches played. Less than ten years ago he traveled from Boston to Toledo to watch a match in which a player he had backed was engaged. He was rewarded for his pains by seeing his player lose.

Mr. Lannin has always believed that checkers were in no small way responsible for the success of Mathewson on the pitching mound. Big Six realized from his experience at the checkerboard that a ball game is not over in one inning; the score at the end of the game is what counts in baseball just as it does in checkers. Checkers helped Matty to plan and plan at the beginning of a ball game, as he had done many a time at checkers and taught him many other lessons of strategy on the ball field.

Elephants' Picnic.

An act not down on the program was given without charge the other day in the old seaport town of Marblehead Mass. when four elephants of a small circus named with the allied patriotism General Foch General Pershing General Haig and Princess Pat, jumped a stone wall, escaped the circus and took to the woods. The personnel of the circus, acrobats, riders, clowns and can-can men followed and so did many of the townspeople and half a dozen policemen but the elephants made the woods first, and there they spent the day with a large and appreciative audience watching on the outskirts. Peanuts and bananas usually a temptation to elephants failed to entice them from their New England jungle but as twilight fell and habit suggested feeding time the big beasts came peacefully out of the woods and allowed the trainer and his assistants to lead them back to the circus grounds. And all Marblehead went home to bed at supper.

The Magnificent Ambersons

BOOTH TARKINGTON

COPYRIGHT BY DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY

Lucy remained where she was until he was out of sight. Then she went slowly into the drug store which had struck George as a possible source of stimulant for himself.

"Please let me have a few drops of tincture of ammonia in a glass of water," she said, with the utmost composure.

"Yes, ma'am," said the impeccable clerk, who had been looking at her through the display window as she stood on the corner.

But a moment later, as he turned from the shelves of glass jars against the wall, with the potion she had asked for in his hand, he uttered an exclamation: "For goodness' sake, Miss!" And, describing this adventure to his fellow boarders, that evening, "Sagging pretty near to the counter, she was," he said, "I hadn't been a bright, quick, ready-for-anything young fella, she'd 'a' summixed plum! I was watchin' her out the window—talkin' to some young s'fety fella, and she was all right then. She was all right when she came in the store, too. Yes, sir, the prettiest girl that ever walked in our place and took one good look at me. I reckon it must be the truth what some you town wags say about my face!"

At that hour the heroine of the susceptible clerk's romance was, engaged in brightening the rosy little coal fire under the white mantelpiece in her pretty white and blue boudoir. Four photographs all framed in decorative plain silver, went to the architect's three destruction—frames and all—and three packets of letters and notes in a charming Florentine treasure box of painted wood; nor was the box, any more than the silver frames, spared this rousing finish. Thrown heavily upon the floor, the due wood splintered forth in stars, then burst into an alarming blaze which scorched the white mantelpiece, but Lucy stood and looked on without moving.

It was not Eugene who told her what had happened at Isabel's door. When she got home, she found Fanny Minister waiting for her—a secret excursion of Fanny's for the purpose, presumably, of "letting out" again; because that was what she did. She told Lucy everything (except her own inevitable part in the production of the recent misdeeds) and concluded with a tribute to George: "The worst of it is, he thinks he's been such a hero, and Isabel does, too, and that makes him more than twice as awful. It's been the same all his life; everything he did was noble and perfect. He had a dominating nature to begin with, and she let it go on, and fostered it till it absolutely ruled her. I never saw a plainer case of a person's fault making them pay for having it! She goes about, overseeing the pecking and praising George and pretending to be perfectly cheerful about what he's done. She pretends he did such a fine thing—so manly and protective—going to Mrs. Johnson, and so heroic—doing what his principles made him—when though he knew what it would cost him with you! And all the while it's almost killing her—what he's doing to your father! She's always been lofty enough, so to speak, and had the greatest idea of the Ambersons being superior to the rest of the world, and all that, but rudeness, or anything like a 'scene,' or any bad manners—they always just made her sick! But she could never see what George's manners were—oh, it's been a terrible education! . . . It's going to be a task for me, living in that big house, all alone; you must come and see me—I mean after they've gone, of course, I'll go crazy if I don't see something of people. I'm sure you'll come as often as you can. I know you too well to think you'll be sensitive about coming there, or being reminded of George. Thank heaven you're too well-balanced," Miss Fanny concluded, with a profound fervor, "you're too well-balanced to let anything affect you deeply about that—that monkey!"

The four photographs and the painted Florentine box went to their cremation within the same hour that Miss Fanny spoke; and a little later Lucy called her father in, as he passed her door, and pointed to the blackened area on the underside of the mantelpiece, and to the burnt heap upon the coal, where some metallic shapes still remained outlined. She flung her arms about his neck in passionate sympathy, telling him that she knew what had happened to him; and presently began to comfort her and managed an embarrassed laugh.

"Well, well—" he said, "I was too old for such foolishness to be getting into any head, anyhow."

"No, no!" she sobbed. "And if you knew how I despise myself for—over having thought one instant about—oh, Miss Fanny called him the right name: that monkey! He is!"

"There, I think I agree with you," Eugene said grimly, and in his eyes there was a steady light of anger that was to last. "Yes I think I agree with you about that!"

"There's only one thing to do with such a person," she said vehemently. "That's to put him out of our thoughts forever—forever!"

And yet, the next day, at six o'clock, which was the hour, Fanny had told her, when George and his mother were to leave upon their long journey, Lucy touched that scorched place on her mantel with her hand just as the little clock above it struck. Then, after this odd, unconscious gesture, she went to a window and stood between the curtains, looking out into the cold November dusk; and in spite of every r-ascending and reasonable power within her, a pain of loneliness struck through her heart. The dim street below her window, the dark houses across the way, the vague air itself—all looked empty, and cold and (most of all) uninteresting. Something more sombre than November dusk took the color from them and gave them that air of desolation.

The light of her fire, flickering up behind her, showed suddenly a flying group of day snowflakes, peering the window-pane; and for an instant she felt the sensation of being dragged through a snow-drift under a broken cutter, with a boy's arms about her—an arrogant, handsome, too-conquering boy, who nevertheless did his best to get hurt himself, keeping her from any possible harm.

She shook the picture out of her eyes indignantly, then came and sat before her fire, and looked long and long at the blackened mantelpiece. She did not have the mantelpiece repainted—and, since she did not, might as well have kept his photographs. One forgets what made the scar upon his hand but not what made the scar upon his wall.

New faces appeared at the dances of the winter; new faces had been appearing everywhere, for that matter, and familiar ones were disappearing, merged in the increasing crowd, or gone forever and missed a little and not long; for the town was growing and changing as it never had grown and changed before.

It was heating up in the middle incredibly; it was spreading incredibly; and as it heaved and spread, it befouled itself and darkened its sky. You drove between pleasant fields and woodland groves one spring day; and in the autumn, passing over the same ground, you were warned off the tracks by an interurban trolley-car's gonging, and beheld, beyond cement sidewalks just dry, new house-owners busy "moving in." Gasoline and electricity were performing the miracles Eugene had predicted.

But the great change was in the citizenry itself. What was left of the patriotic old-stock generation that had fought the Civil war, and subsequently controlled politics, had become venerable and was little heeded. What happened to Boston and to Broadway happened in degree to the Midland city; the old stock became less and less typical, and of the growing people who called the place home, less than a third had been born to it.

A new spirit of citizenship had already sharply defined itself. It was idealistic, and its ideals were expressed in the new kind of young men in business downtown. They were optimists—optimists to the point of beligerence—their motto being "Boost! Don't Knock!" And they were hustlers, believing in hustling and in honesty because both paid. They loved their city and "worked" for it with a plutonic energy which was always ardently vocal. They were viciously glib, but they sometimes went so far as to struggle for better government on account of the helpful effect of good government on the price of real estate and "betterment" generally; the politicians could not go too far with them, and knew it. The idealists planned and strove and shouted that their city should become a better, better, and better city—and what they meant, when they used the word "better," was "more prosperous," and the core of their idealism was this: "The more prosperous my beloved city, the more prosperous beloved I!"

These were bad times for Amberson addition. This quarter, already old, lay within a mile of the center of the town, but business moved in other directions; and the addition's share of Prosperity was only the smoke and dirt, with the bank credit left out. The owners of the original big houses sold them, or rented them to boarding-house keepers, and the tenants of the multitude of small houses moved "farther out" (where the smoke was thinner) or into apartment houses, which were built by dozens now. Cheaper tenants took their places, and the rents were lower and lower, and the houses shabbier and shabbier—for all these shabby houses, burning soft coal, did their best to help in the destruction of their own value. Distances had ceased to matter.

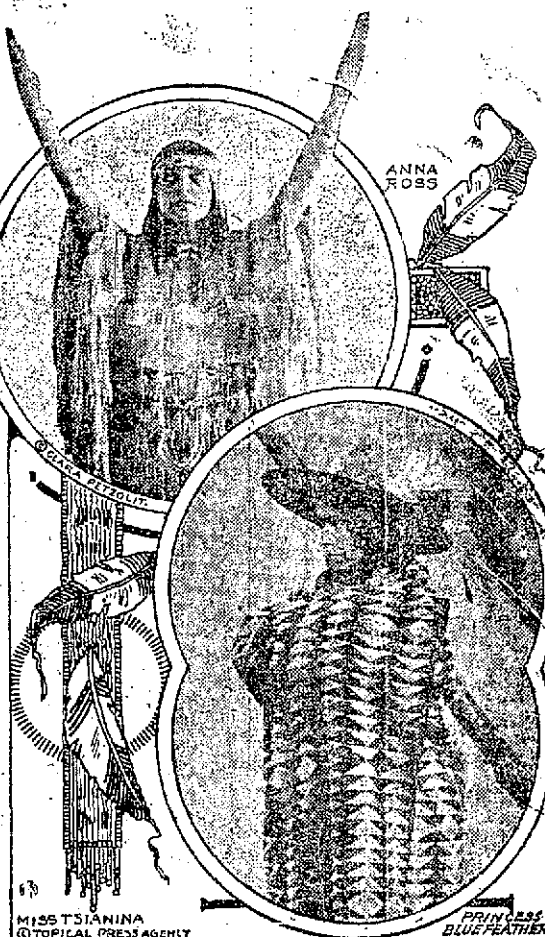

The five new houses, built so closely where had been the fine lawn of the Amberson mansion, did not look new. When they were a year old they looked as old as they would ever look; and two of them were vacant, having never been rented, for the Major's mistake about apartment houses had been a disastrous one. "He guessed wrong," George Amberson said. "He guessed wrong at just the wrong time! People were crazy for apartments—too bad he couldn't have seen it in time. Poor man! he digs away at his ledgers by his old gas drop-light lamp almost every night—he still refuses to let the Mansion be torn up for virtue, you know. But he had one painful satisfaction this spring: he got his taxes lowered."

Amberson laughed ruefully, and Fanny Minister asked how the Major could have managed such an economy. They were sitting upon the veranda at Isabel's one evening during the third summer of the absence of their nephew and his mother; and the conversation had turned toward Amberson finances. "I said it was a 'painful satisfaction,'" Fanny, he explained, "the property has gone down in value, and they assessed it lower than they did fifteen years ago."

"But farther out—" "Oh, yes, farther out!" Prices are magnificent farther out, and farther in, too! We just happen to be the wrong spot, that's all. Not that I don't think something could be done if

Three Real Princesses From the U. S. A. Quit Kingdoms to Join Army Democracy

Descendant of Montezuma and Other American Royalty Hard at Work Overseas Entertaining Doughboys

Entertained right royally are the men of the A. E. F. The royalty of two continents is sending its princesses to amuse them. Only recently the Princess Maria of Roumania visited the leave area at Alexander-Bains with her mother, the Queen, and danced in a tag dance with American privates.

And the Y. M. C. A. has sent three native American princesses to Europe to dance and sing, princesses that belong to the ancient royalty that held sway over vast areas of this continent before Columbus set foot on American soil.

The Princess Bluefeather traces her descent, on the distaff side to Montezuma, emperor of the Aztecs. Her mother was of purest Aztec blood, she insists, and her father was a Frenchman by the name of Des Champs. The princess spent her childhood with a tribe of Indians in Oregon and learned from them many Indian songs, legends, tribal dances and incantations with which she is now entertaining nightly the crowds of doughboys who flock to see her. The Princess Tatamala is another Indian princess who was famous as a singer in the opera companies of Charles Wakefield Cadman on the Pacific Coast. She was adopted in childhood by a wealthy white family in Denver and given a good education. The dying request of her Indian mother that she should always wear the native Indian dress, has been observed and, regardless of the stares of the crowds, the princesses walked unconcerned through the offices of the old world as she used to walk through those of the new, in her beaded leather robes. She reached Germany and for months entertained the soldiers there with native songs and dances, appearing alone and in concert with Mr. Cadman. Princess Tatamala is a composer of chitney. She has made a close study of Indian customs and folk-lore and her programs were always well received by the soldiers. She went abroad last September.

The third of the royal trio is the Princess Galkohi, who also is known under the English name of Anna Ross. Her father was Robert Ross, hereditary king of the Cherokee of Oklahoma, and she comes from Tahlequah, the former capital of the Cherokee nation in the Ozark foothills.

For two years before going abroad she appeared with Ernest Thompson-Seton, the naturalist, giving recitals of folk-lore and songs and dances of the various Indian tribes. She was the model for the Zolnay statue of Sagoyew, one of her own ancestors and the inventor of the Cherokee alphabet, which stands in the Hall of Fame at Washington, and she officiated at the unveiling of the statue last year. Her Indian name signifies "One-who-keeps-things-well," and her success in serving the boys abroad has satisfied them that the name is one she well merits.

father would let me have a hand; but he won't. He can't, I suppose I ought to say. He's always done his own figuring," he says; and it's his lifelong habit to keep his affairs, and even his books, to himself, and just hand us out the money. Heaven knows, he's done enough of that!"

"There seem to be so many ways of making money nowadays," Fanny said thoughtfully. "Every day I hear of a new fortune some person has got hold of, one way or another—nearly always it's somebody you never have heard of. It doesn't seem all to be in just making motor cars; I hear there's a

NOW IS THE TIME

To Build Up Permanently Nature At Its Best As An Aid.

If you who are weak, nervous and run-down from over-work, worry or any other cause would only realize that the summer months is the time to build up strength and vigor there would not be so many collapses and runnings for aid during the winter.

The plan to follow is simple—plenty of rest and good wholesome food along with a strength-creating, body-building tonic. Chaco-Vin with its Iron, Manganese, Hypophosphites, Nux, and other strength-making ingredients, is the tonic we suggest.

If you follow this plan carefully you will notice a wonderful improvement in two weeks time. But don't give up too soon.

The job agents for Chaco-Vin are: C. Roy Hetzel, Woolworth Bldg., and A. A. Clarke, 323 Pittsburg St.—Adv.

NEVER SAW THE SUWANEE

Writer of Popular Song Used Name Because Rhythmic Sound of It Appealed to Him.

The song, "Old Folks at Home," made the name of "Swanee River" famous, but few people, except those of Florida and Georgia, connect the Swanee of the song with the Swanee that flows from the southern swamps of Georgia down through the woodlands of Florida to empty into the Gulf of Mexico.

"Way down upon the Swanee river" suggests vaguely the South of the antebellum days with its cotton plantations, its mansions and negro cabins. None of these things are found along the Swanee. Yet Floridians claim that the song was written in honor of the forest stream, and botanists even point out a tree under which Stephen Foster is supposed to have penned the memorable lines. Reports less picturesque, but more generally accepted, say that Foster never saw Swanee river, but that he used the name because of the rhythmic sound, dropping the "u" to perfect the meter.

While the Swanee river may not be what its name suggests to most of us, it is a beautiful stream, flowing through a semi-tropical country where live-oaks and cypresses are mirrored in its clear depths. Heavy forests of cedar also grow in its valley, but these have been reduced in recent years, as the wood is in great demand for penitentiary making.

The Swanee figured largely in early American history, for it was a favorite haunt of the Indians, and many battles with the red men were fought in its valleys.

The name Swanee has an Indian sound, but it is said to be a corruption of San Juan—a name given the river by early Spanish explorers.

Germany Seeks Wool Substitutes.

Search for wool substitutes will doubtless continue in Germany, where sheep rearing is not likely to increase materially. Dogs' hair and even human hair have been tried, as felt material of limited supply, and the long hair of women found military use during the war. A possible new industry is to be based on the white, silk-haired rabbit. The hair may be spun into very fine soft threads, suitable for weaving certain fabrics, and plans are said to have been made for breeding several millions of the animals.

Oil in Mexico.

Recent investigations which have been made on the Pacific coast of Mexico reveal the existence of rich deposits of petroleum. These discoveries are of great importance, because they will ultimately serve to intensify maritime traffic and seem to presage for some of the western parts of Mexico a future as promising as that of Tampico or Tuxtepec.

Proof.

"My dear, I was one of the very first to leave," said a man, who, on returning from an evening party, was greeted reproachfully by his wife.

"Oh, you always say that," she retorted.

"Well, I can prove it this time, anyhow," insisted the husband. "Look in the hall and see the gold-mounted umbrella I've brought home."

SERVICE MEN ARE BEING PROVIDED WITH GOOD JOBS

Sixty-six Per Cent of Registered Applicants Placed Up to June 28th.

NEW YORK HAS PROBLEM

With 15,653 Jobless Men, Metropolis Faced Bigger Task Than Any Other City but Placed Half of the Applicants; Little Cities Show up Well.

Special to The Courier.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Sixty-six per cent of registered soldier and sailor applicants for jobs were placed by the various governmental and volunteer employment services during five weeks ending June 28, according to figures made public here by Colonel Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war and head of the government's organization for the re-employment of service men.

The seventy-seven cities in the survey are divided into four groups, according to population, and represent every section of the country. The cities over 200,000 placed 63 per cent of their enrolled men; the next group consisting of cities from 100,000 to 200,000, 78 per cent; the 50,000 to 100,000 group, 81 per cent, and the "little cities," or those under 50,000, 71 per cent.

Twenty-one cities out of 28, of more than 200,000 inhabitants, each have placed over 50 per cent of their soldiers and sailors. The Middle West claims the first five places on the list of the big cities on the percentage basis. Minneapolis heads this list with a record of 136 per cent of registered men placed (which means that she placed every man registered in the United States bureau, and a large number unregistered or signed up with other organizations). St. Louis follows Minneapolis with 132 per cent. Cleveland shows 92 per cent, Toledo 86 per cent and Kansas City 81 per cent.

Los Angeles, Portland (Oregon), Philadelphia, Seattle, Chicago and Baltimore had over 2,000 men to place in that period and all, except Seattle and Baltimore, placed over 70 per cent of them. New York City, with 15,653 jobless men, had a problem five times as big as any other city except Chicago, and placed just half of the applicants, or 50 per cent. Pittsburgh and Boston have only 26 and 28 per cent records to their credit, and Buffalo trails at the foot of the list with 23 per cent.

Of cities from 100,000 to 200,000 in population, the Middle West, with Dayton, Ohio, again is in the lead. Dayton placed in that time 124 per cent, or 882 men. Fort Worth, Texas, follows with 117 per cent; Spokane, Washington, has 94 per cent, and of the entire list of 16 cities, only one, Nashville, Tenn., has placed less than 52 per cent, her record showing 44 per cent.

San Diego, Cal., in the third group, has the most sensational percentage record to her credit for that period, although the actual number placed was not large. She placed 132 per cent of her applicants, which is the best percentage showing made by any city. San Diego is followed in the list of cities from 50,000 to 100,000 population, by Mobile, Ala., with a 97 per cent record. None of these cities has placed less than 57 per cent of their registrants and as a group have made the best record of all. Little Rock, Ark., had more men to place than any other city in this group and succeeded in obtaining jobs for 1,497 of her 1,907 men.

Of the "little cities," those with population under 50,000, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has the best percentage record, although Cheyenne, Wyo., with 835 men to place, made by far the biggest showing by getting jobs for 860 of these. Poughkeepsie's per cent was 94, but she had only 15 men enrolled. Five other cities in the list got jobs for over 75 per cent of their applicants. These were Pensacola, Fla.; Wilmington, N. C.; Racine, Wis.; Butte, Mont.; and Reno, Nev.

SPLENDID WAY TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

There is perhaps no one thing that so plainly shows the passing of our youth as the horrible tendency to put on too much weight after we have reached the age of 25 or 30 years. However young our faces may appear, the ageing, flabby figure and forty inch waist "gives us away."
The cause of this over stoutness is that our stomachs convert the food we eat into fat because there is not enough oxygen in the blood to produce the proper combustion to destroy the excess fatty tissue. Fat people will be pleased to learn of a simple home method that is wonderfully efficient in reducing weight, quickly and easily without a starving diet, violent massage or strenuous exercise. Go to any drug store and get a box of Phenylphthalein. This treatment will often give quick relief from overburdening fat. Phenylphthalein taken at meal times assists the stomach in giving you the benefit of the food you eat; at the same time dissolves the fatty tissue from any part of the body where there is excess fat. By this simple method many have reduced their weight a pound a day and there is no flabbiness left. C. Roy Hestel, Laughery Drug Co., and A. A. Hestel can supply you with the genuine Phenyl at a small cost.—Adv.

Hot Tea and Frozen Cream Very Constipating

THERE is little inclination for solid food on a hot day. Cold drinks and ices, salads and pastry form much of the diet, especially among women. This lack of wholesome variety, however, interferes with proper digestion.

The result is biliousness, indigestion, dizzy spells. The cause is constipation. The stomach could not digest nor the bowels pass off the day's strange mixture of food and drink.

A simple way of overcoming the trouble is this: If you have not already got Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the house, go to a drug store and buy a 50c or $1 bottle. Take a teaspoonful tonight before you go to bed. It will act in the morning, and immediately thereafter your head will be clear and that feeling of oppression will be gone.

Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. It acts on the stomach-muscles training them to do their work naturally so that medicines can be dispensed with. It is the most widely used laxative compound in the world. That means merit.
A free sample bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 480 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT

"THE SON-OF-A-GUN"—The second of the new G. M. Anderson five reel "Western Classic," is being presented today. The story is founded on a true incident in the life of the eccentric character who was at one time known throughout the southwest but by no other name than "The Son-of-a-Gun," from which fact the story gets its title. It was put into form for screen production by men who are thoroughly familiar with the west of the period which treats and was produced under the direction of Jesse J. Robbins, producer of the original "Broncho Billy" stories, which first brought Mr. Anderson to the attention of the theatre-going public as a film star. The production is not a re-issue, but is new in its entirety, conceived within the past three months and produced at the company's Glendale studios and in the mountains around Devil's Garden, on the edge of the desert about one hundred and fifty miles from Los Angeles, Cal. The production is filled to overflowing with quaint western humor which, besides being amusing in itself, serves to accentuate and throw into proper relief the more rapid-fire melodramatic action which forms the basis of the story. A selected comedy is also being shown.

"WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE"—In which Mabel Normand achieves distinct originality, is an interesting feature today. Mabel Normand is Mabel Martin, accompanying her father on her first railroad journey. On the same train is a worthy young carpenter, lawyer who is fleeing from an imaginary crime. Armed with a "doctor's" pass, he pretends to be a physician, but is terrified when addressed as a doctor. He is too scared to respond to Mabel's blarneyisms, so she lures upon a way to enlist his professional services. Feigning toothache, she begs her stinging parent to summon a doctor. Instead, her father forces a dose of chewing tobacco in her mouth. A sharp curve, a sudden lurch and Mabel's shadowless medicine. Then the doctor has to come. He orders an operation, the train is rushed to the next station and Mabel is hurried to a sanitarium, with the mock doctor forced along too. The ensuing events are laughable in the extreme, and Mabel's escape from the knife miraculously. The picture is a real farce, its basis being one of the most laughable situations ever conceived. Its interpretation and pictorial aspects are flawless. A pleasing two reel comedy is also being shown. Both productions will be repeated tomorrow.
